GOOD PRICES FOR TROTTERS.

BIRRTY-ONE HEAD FROM HIGHLAWN STUD SOLD FOR $96,508.

Highly Bred Brood Mares in Demand at Yesterday's Hale-Mink, 2:02 1.2, Rold to W. R. Cutting of This City for $5,500-J. S. Ferguson Pays $5,000 for Nenn, a Daughter of Nutwood-Mesers, Daly, Simpson, Ridgley, and Other Breeders Buy Quite Extensively.

The sale of trotting stock consigned to easrs. Peter C. Kellogg & Co. by J. G. Davis. Highlawn Farm, Lee, Mass., was concluded at the American Institute building yesterday. when forty-six head were disposed of for a total of $46,335, an average of $1,007.72 each. The grand total for the entire offering, ninety-one head, reaches the goodly sum of $96,505, making a grand average of $1,000.49.

That the sale was successful was conceded by everybody. Messrs. William Simpson. Walter Cutting, and J. S. Ferguson of this city. J. W. Daly of Mount Kisco Farm, this State. and Charles Ridgley, Springfield, Ill., were the most liberal investors. There was a great deal of spirited rivalry for the choicest of the brood mares, and prices went quite high, Mr. Outling paying $5,500 for Mink, 2:22%, an eight-year-old mare by Alcantara, out of Bouvenir, by Administrator, before his opponents would cry quits. John S. Ferguson bought the only Nutwood mare offered on the opening day, and he bobbed up again yesterday, securing Nena, a nine-year-old daughter of the famous sire, for $5,000. William Simpson took Czarina, by Jay Gould, for $3,100, and gave as much for Myrah, a daughter of Knicketbocker, out of Thorndale Maid, the dam of that great young race mare, Miss Alice, 2:17%. A yearing flily by Alcantara, out of Myrah, felt to Mr. Simpson for $2,000. Mr. Charles Ridgley added Alice Stoner, 2:24%, by Strathmore, out of the famous brood mare Ned, and a two-year-old filly by Alcantara, to his collection.

There were fully 1,000 persons present, and they all took a lively interest in the sale.

The following is a summary of the sale. day, securing Nena, a nine-year-old daughter

THE WAR ON GUTTENBURG.

Mesors. Walbaum. Crusins, Carr, and Whitehead Call on Justice Lockwood.

About 10 o'clock yesterday morning a carriage drove up in front of Justice Lockwood's office in Washington street, Jersey City, and three well-dressed men alighted from it and entered the office. They were President G. Walbaum, Treasurer J. N. Crusius, and Secretary B. Whitehead of the Hudson County Jockey Club. Superintendent John C. Carr and Mr. Peter Wilkins were awaiting their ar-

Mr. Peter Wilkins were awaiting their arrival.

Messrs. Walbaum, Crusius, and Whitehead were there for the purpose of giving bail to answer a charge which they understood had been preferred against them, and Mr. Peter Wilkins was there to go on their bond. Mr. Carr's object in being present was to get copies of the complaints which had been made against the manacers of the track and the bookmakers. He had already given bail. The business was quickly disposed of. Justice Lockwood fixed the bail at $400 in each case. The bail was furnished by Mr. Wilkins.

Treasurer Crusius and Secretary Whitehead talk of bringing suits for false imprisonment. They daim to be simply officers of the Hudson County Jockey Club, and say that they have no active connection with the track.

JACK FROST STOPS THE RACES. The Sport Will be Resumed this Afternoon if Possible.

The freezing blast of Tuesday night and yesterday morning, with its accompaniment of snow, converted the water-souked track at Guttenburg into a good course for sleighing, but spoiled it for ruuning races. On this account the races were postponed until to-day, providing the track can be rendered safe for the thoroughbreds to run on. If this is accom-

Again Honors Are Divided. HAVANA, Jan. 20.-It was not a surprise to the spectators when Tschigorin yesterday opened the ninth game with the Evans Gambit, the more so, as he was successful in the seventh game, when he also selected this form of attack. Steinitz, however, played more carefully and did not again give his opponent a chance of scoring through an unsound combination. On the contrary, things looked very bad for the Russian, who had a bad position in the end game. When within an ace of scoring. Steinitz made one weak move, whereby the Russian could equalize matters, and the game ended in a draw after thirty-five moves. The score: Tschigorin. 3; Steinitz, 2; drawn.

burg considers it black's strongest line of play. On the tenth move black left it open to the opponent to exchange queens and bishops and to recover the pawn. But Tschigorin wisely refrained from accepting the offer, as his postition would have become precarious for the ending on account of the weakness of his Q B P. Black instituted an early attack on the Q side for the purpose of driving bacs the adverse queen and stutting out the queen's bishop. Stelnitz castled on the seventeenth move, leaving a nawn to be taken, which he could have easily preserved on the sixteenth move by pinning the knight with the tishop at Q B D. He had planned a king side attack, which seemed to be very promising and greatly confined white's pieces. He had an excellent game with even forces, but on black's twenty-third move there came a collapse such as sometimes occurs in match games. Tschigorin had lind a trap whereby he apparently lost the exchange and a pawn, and Steinitz dropped into it, everlooking the fact that after his K B P was captured with a check he could not escape from a mating position.

NOTES BY W. STEINITZ. (a) The object is to prevent the exchange of queens by F x F, which would also recover either the k F or K B F for white this a good plan at this juncture.

The contest between Capt. S. Pinkham and Major J. M. Hanham was continued yesterday at the council Chambers these Cho. Hanham defended with the Philidor. He early assumed the initiative on the queen side and soon crowded in the adverse pieces the Major pursued his advantage very vigorously. Pinkham resigned on his thirty-econd move. The score is now even, each having won one game. One game was drawn. The second game of the Eccles-Arnheim maten will be played to-morrow.

my resignation of the omes of President of the League of American Wheelman, which is hereby tendered, to take effect on Thursday, Feb. 25, 1892.

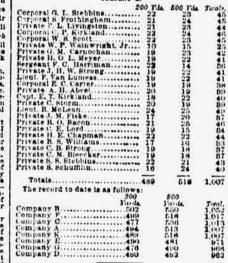

During his administration great progress was made in the L.A. W. swork of the furtherance of the work of road improvement. Just previous to resigning he was instrumental in having the L.A. W. form a road improvement bureau, and arranged for the publication of a monthly magnzine by the league to be devoted to highway improvement.

Mr. Dunn's resignation taking effect on Feb. Ar. Dunn's resignation taking effect on Feb. 25 makes it necessary for the National Assembly, at their meeting to be held in Columbus, O. on Feb 15, to elect a new President. Major C. L. Burdette is a candidate for the office, and will without doubt be elected. While at first there seemed little likelihood of being any opposition to Mr. Burdette, it is learned that several well-known wheelmen aspire for Presidential honors. The West is expected to develop a man for the vacancy. It is asserted that Treasurer Brewster of the L.A. W., who has managed the financial duties of the league for years, is not averse to a change of office, and will likely loom up as a candidate for either the Presidency or the office of either first or second Vice-President. W. Sheridan of Chicago is also being pushed for a position on the Executive Committee.

If opposition is brought against the election of Mr. Burdette it will be of mild character. The Connecticut and New York divisions this known will support Mr. Burdette and a canvass of the Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, and Western division shows that he has also adherents in those sections.

The various divisions are now at work hatching up political tickets, and as there is time before election day, many candidates, will spring up and lively times are anticipated.

Pine Record of Seventh Regiment Sharp

The Seventh Regiment takes a fustifiable pride in the achievements of its marksment for the season of 1891, scarcely a member of the organization having failed to win his decoration. Great enthusiasm has been mant feated by the several companies, and full advantage taken of the painstaking and intelligent instruction. The gratifying condition of affairs is due in no small measure to the efforts of Capt, William II. Paimer, inspector of rife practice. Comparison of the work done by the regimental marksmen in 1891 and 1800 is interesting.

NO ROOM FOR "AMACHOORS." A Simon-pure Professional Club Started in Breaklyn,

Another sporting club which promises to make a big stir with their enterprise and novel plans for boxing entertainments has lately cropped out in Brooklyn. It is none other than the Outing Athletic Club, which has beretofore promoted amateur sports. A thorough reorganization has been made under the same title, and they promote the same title, and they propose to hold boxing tournaments for pro-fessional pugitists, besides promote all branches of out-door sport in season under the plans recently set forth by the originators of the Professional League of Amercan Athletea.
William H. Robertson is President of the new club:
